Radar Gun Poses Threat To Violators

Speed violators in the Bay St. Louis area are in real trouble now through the inception of an amazing radar speedgun, in use by the Bay police department.

Although the Bay is the first Gulf Coast department to acquire the new traffic control equipment, the speedgun is expected to be in use soon by all coast police departments as well as throughout the state, according to a representative of the manufacturer.

Weighing only three pounds the radar gun is considerably more accurate than the "box" radar or eyeball estimate from a parked patrol car formerly used by law enforcement agencies. Designed to be hand-held or mounted in the rear window of a patrol car, the speedgun can clock the speed of an automobile within one mile per hour accuracy and has a one-mile range on a moving vehicle.

Through a computerized mechanism the gun gives a continual split-second digital read out and can be locked-in at any speed, to provide positive proof of violation to the driver.

A special reverse image switch enables the officer to read the numerals in the rear view mirror when the gun is mounted in the rear window. The gun can be plugged into the cigarette lighter of a patrol car or work off a battery pack by an officer on foot.

Some 35 Mississippi cities are now using the speedgun and within the month another 90 will be in use in the state, the manufacturer's representative said.

A warning to chronic speed violators—the state Highway Safety Patrol has ordered 30 of the guns, some of which will probably be used on the Gulf Coast highways.

STOP OR T'L.... give you a ticket, Bay Police Chief Bill Carbonette can now say to a speed violator before the vehicle has even passed him! Carbonette is clocking speed of the above vehicle with a Speedgun, the newest innovation in traffic radar. The amazing radar gun gives an accurate digital readout on a moving vehicle at a one-mile range, coming and going. Bay P.D. is the first Gulf Coast department to have the unit in use.

Dr. Fox Is New Investigator For Mental Health Center

Dr. Roger Fox is the new principal investigator for the Initiation and Development drug project, according to Dr. G. Kinsey Stewart, director of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

Dr. Fox replaces Bruce Phillips, who has been associated with the Mental Health Center since 1971.

The new principal investigator received his B.S. degree from Louisiana State University and his masters' and doctorate degrees from the New Orleans Baptist Seminary. Dr. Fox's major studies have been in developmental psychology and counseling. Prior to joining the I & D staff, he worked as a mental health professional with the West Alabama Mental Health Center.

Dr. Fox's background includes supervision of mental health outpatient clinics and development of a crisis counseling service at Orleans Parish Prison. He has worked with the emotionally disturbed at Southeast Louisiana Hospital, counseled college students and has been involved with youth community centers in New Orleans.

MEC Sees Legislative Support For County Controls

The president of the Mississippi Economic Council has stated that he is "encouraged" that members of the County Affairs Committee of the Mississippi House of Representatives "recognize the need for improvements in county government."

The MEC president, Jackson business executive J.C. Redd, said the Council will support legislation providing for revisions in county government as reportedly favored by members of the County Affairs Committee.

Redd's statement followed news reports that the members of the House committee have agreed, unofficially, to support legislation providing several county government changes in the 1974 session.

"News reports indicated that the County Affairs Committee recognizes the need for central purchasing, for improvement in county record keeping, for stiffer penalties for illegal acts, and for improved management through a county manager system," Redd said.

"All of these are principal features of the county unit system as proposed by the Council, and we will give our full support to the enactment of legislation implementing these principles."

"At the same time," the MEC president continued, "we will continue to work for legislation providing for additional features of the unit system, specifically the maintenance and construction of county roads on a countywide basis. We believe counties can provide better road systems if they consider the needs of the county as a whole, rather than continuing to operate five separate road departments within the county."

The MEC president said the Council will continue its efforts for total county unit because "20 years" work has convinced us our position is correct. Every professional study of county roads over the past 20 years in Mississippi has recommended the unit system."

Redd noted that the chairman of the House County Affairs Committee, Rep. John Pearson of Rosedale, emphasized the committee has considered legislation "unofficially" and that no official action can be taken before the 1974 session is convened.

"Mr. Pearson has assured us that every bill filed with his committee will be considered and acted on separately, and we appreciate his commitment."

"We are pleased with the committee's recognition of the need for reform and look forward to continuing work with the committee in the effort to secure effective county improvement legislation in this session."

Bay Man Faces Burglary Charge

A 28-year-old Bay St. Louis man was being held in Hancock County Jail this week after his arrest Christmas Day following an unsuccessful burglary attempt Christmas Eve.

Waveland Police officers Terry Holmes and Richard Warman arrested and charged Daniel Dougherty of Rt. 3, Box 192, Bay St. Louis with the attempted burglary of the home of Mrs. Leona Toomey, 121 Broad St., Waveland after she gave a description of the suspect to police and a receipt bearing Dougherty's name was found on the scene.

Officer Holmes said that the burglary occurred about 10 p.m. Christmas Eve. Police said that Mrs. Toomey heard someone attempting to enter the house and when she called out, a man told her that he had a message from her son.

Police said that screens on both the front and back doors of the residence had been ripped off to gain entry. Bond for Dougherty was set at $2000.

Cooper Awarded Scholarship

Cadet Richard P. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Cooper of Rt. 3, Bay St. Louis, has received a two-year U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) college scholarship. Comet Kohoutek Discussed on ETV

From mid December until late January, Kohoutek, the comet of the century, will produce a rare and dazzling display across the Northern Hemisphere every morning before December 28 and every evening after that, if you know where to look.

On January 4 at 8 p.m., the Mississippi Educational Television network will televise a sixty minute color program showing you where to look for Kohoutek and what you can expect to see.

Produced in cooperation with the Goddard Space Flight Center, the coordinating agency for U.S. studies of Kohoutek, the program will use animation, photographs, and space agency films to show and explain in detail the origins and makeup of comets.

Goddard is offering to public television viewers a preplotted comet chart to help observers locate and track Kohoutek during its flight through our solar system. For a free copy of this chart, readers may send their name and address to Comet Chart, Mississippi Authority for Educational Television, P.O. Drawer 1101, Jackson, Mississippi, 39205.

Jaycee Wives Hold Installation

The Bay St. Louis Jaycee Wives will hold installation of officers January 8, 1974 at 8:00 PM at the National Guard Armory, Old Kiln Road.

The main order of business will be the presentation of the Constitution and By-Laws to govern the organization for discussion and amendment before final approval.

Any wife of a Bay St. Louis Jaycee is invited to attend.

Music Fest Postponed Until April

A Winter Music Fest, planned for Jan. 20 at Biloxi High auditorium, will be postponed until late April by a consensus of community leaders at a Thursday meeting in Gulfport. The musical variety show was to bring together artists and entertainers from the Gulf Coast area as well as personalities from New Orleans to raise money for the Gulf Coast Drug Abuse Center in Gulfport.

Meeting Thursday in the Mississippi Power Company auditorium were coordinator and instigator of the benefit affair, Mrs. Elizabeth Drury, representatives of Junior Auxiliary chapters from coast cities, Pass Christian Mayor Steve Saucier as well as broadcasting and business executives from the Gulfport area.

The Drug Abuse Center is in need of some $20,000 in matching funds for a Law Enforcement Assistance Agency grant and the hope was to raise the money through the benefit show. However, a realization of those attending the meeting that a much larger event, possibly in conjunction with a radio-telethon, would be necessary sparked the decision to postpone the musical. A date in late April, it was felt, would give benefit workers time to promote a bigger and hopefully more lucrative function.

It was also announced that tickets already purchased for the Jan. 20 date will be honored at the later show in April.

A meeting to coordinate plans for the event was set for Jan. 4, 1 p.m. at the Drug Abuse Center in Gulfport.

The Jaycees wish to thank these persons for their generosity which made it possible for each child to receive what he wanted most for Christmas. Gifts ranged from radios to a beautiful puppy donated by the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

The two groups also dispensed ten Christmas food baskets to needy families in the area. Food donations came from the teenagers who participate in Youth Center activities, members and local merchants.

Aliens Reminded To Report Address

Mr. Troy A. Adams, Jr. of the Immigration and Naturalization Service today urged all aliens in the area who have not yet filled out alien address report forms, to do so before January 31 at the nearest Post Office or office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. The Immigration official pointed out that the law requires all non-citizens, except persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives to certain international organizations, such as the United Nations, to report their addresses to the Government each January. Mr. Adams added "The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must fill out the address report form for such a child in order to comply with the law." "The procedure to comply has been broadened. The alien can go to the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service Office or Post Office to acquire the report card. After filling it out, he simply places a postage stamp on the reverse of this card and drops it in any mail box. It is especially convenient to aliens who are ill or otherwise incapacitated and who have friends who can acquire and mail the card for them."

MEC Calls For Equal Assessments

The president of the Mississippi Economic Council last week voiced the Council's vigorous support for legislation in the 1974 session implementing statewide equalization of assessments. Jackson businessman J. C. Redd, who heads the statewide organization comprised of over 3300 members, called "inequitable property assessments" a critical problem in Mississippi and expressed hope that the state legislature will correct the situation in the upcoming legislative session. "We must realize," Redd said, "that the financial support for schools, junior colleges, and libraries — as well as local governments — depends largely on property taxes."

Redd noted that in spite of constitutional requirements that all property be assessed at the same proportion to value and in spite of companion statutes requiring this, there has been no equity in valuing lands throughout the state. "The variation of assessments runs from 20 to 50 percent difference per acre in adjacent counties where the lands are similar in soil characteristics, in timber-growing value, and in other characteristics," Redd declared.

"The inequities in assessing property are not restricted to county comparisons," he said. "A 1972 MEC study found glaring inequities in residential assessments within the counties surveyed. The homes next door to one another — were on the tax rolls at substantially different values."

In calling for legislation eliminating the inequities of assessment practices, Redd cautioned the legislature against a classification system to resolve the assessment problem. "The Council does not believe that classification will be an improvement over the present situation which is, in many counties, a 'de facto' system of classified property assessments. There is great difficulty in finding any sound theoretical basis for treating various classes of property differently according to use or ownership. Fallacious arguments may be made for taxing either business or residential property more heavily. But once the uniformity rule is abandoned, the tax policymaker is without standards, and the results are decisions, by political expediency," Redd said.

Redd said, the Council had researched the area of property assessments for a number of years. "We have formulated a series of recommendations that we hope the legislature will consider in making improvements in assessment practices in the state in order that equalization of assessments can be secured."

CERTIFICATION TRAINING PROGRAM - Among municipal employees attending a recent professional improvement session at Hattiesburg were, from left, Clarence M. Ladner, Assessor and Finance Commissioner, Bay St. Louis; D. V. Coleman, City Clerk, Moss Point; Flo Holmberg, Deputy Tax Assessor, Pascagoula; Wanda Ransom, Deputy Tax Collector, Pascagoula; Anna G. Burnham, Deputy City Clerk, Pascagoula; E. M. Tue, City Clerk and Collector, Ocean Springs; and Charles L. Walker, Clerk, Assessor, Collector and Finance Commissioner, Gulfport.

Ladner In Municipal Clerk Training Program

Among municipal employees attending a recent professional improvement session at Hattiesburg was Bay St. Louis tax assessor and finance commissioner Clarence Ladner.

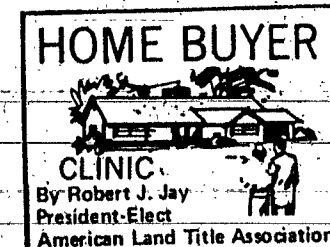

The program which is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, Mississippi State University, in cooperation with the Mississippi City Clerks, Assessors and Collectors Association covered such topics as revenue sharing, employment practices, interpersonal communication and personnel administration. The professional improvement program was requested by local officials and is affiliated with the Certified Municipal Clerks' program of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks (IIMC). The statewide program is being conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

"Mississippi State University is only the third university in the nation to be granted accreditation for its training program by IIMC," said Dr. W.M. Bost, Extension director.

Upon successful completion of the three year training program, those attending will have earned 50 points toward the 100 points required for the international CMC designation. The same program has been held in Jackson, Tupelo, and Greenville during October and November.

The Mississippi City Clerks, Assessors and Collectors Association helped design and sponsor the program. Luke Wood, president of the MCACA, said the participants will be able to apply training completed toward the newly established Mississippi Certified Municipal Clerk, Assessor, Collector (CMCAC) designation. Partial funding for the program is being obtained from the Inter-governmental Personnel Act of 1970 through the Governor's office of Federal State programs.

Honest, Expensive Mistakes
A perfectly honest mistake made in handling public records can sometimes prove expensive to a home buyer. In one example, a mix-up in public record lot location identifying numbers resulted in taxes being paid on the wrong property as a home changed ownership. Months after the transaction was completed, the tax collector informed the new owner that back taxes on his home were unpaid.

Fortunately, the home buyer facing this situation was protected by owner's title insurance. Upon being advised of the problem, the title company paid the outstanding tax bill and saved the home owner from financial loss. Later, the title company was able to recover part of the amount from the person whose property taxes were erroneously credited with the payment. Without owner's title insurance, the delinquent taxes would have been the immediate problem of the home buyer.

Support Senate Bill 1677 as if your life depended upon it. It just might!

The 1974 Legislature can help save dozens of lives each year in Mississippi! There is a bill prefiled in the Senate which can force the repeated violator of traffic laws off the highways and streets. These dangerous, drunk and unqualified drivers make up only 5% of all drivers, yet they are responsible for more than half of the auto deaths and accidents. It's past time for laws to be enacted that will protect the lives of the other 95%.

This bill is fair to all drivers with adequate provisions for warnings and appeals. But the driver who continues to break the law without regard for others would and should be forced off the highways.

Many states have "habitual offender" laws and the auto accident death rate has dropped consistently in these states since the law went into effect.

Don't you think it's time for Mississippians to have this kind of protection, too?

The Mississippi Insurance Council urges the 1974 Legislature to make this one of the very first pieces of business in the upcoming session. And every voter is urged to let his legislator know we want this legislation passed this year. No one has more influence on your legislator than you. Use it to assure passage of Senate Bill 1677. Your life could depend upon it!

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

As we write this we are looking out over the Bay of Tampa, where we are spending our holidays with our two daughters and their families. It is a pretty sight, with the wind casting big rollers up on the beach. It is a pretty sight, but it lacks the loveliness and intimacy of our own little Bay with its marshlands and the piney woods around it. In fact, life in a metropolis lacks a lot of the simplicity and peace which our own little community provides, and while Chambers of Commerce are always yammering for bigger and more active businesses, they always fail to advertise the worries and heartbreaks that often go with them.

We wanted to see some of the beaches around the Bay, so we drove for miles down a wide road—and saw nothing but the backs of houses in a solid line, like tenements with no access to the water for the public. There are long beaches along the causeway between Tampa and St. Pete—if you want to drive for a hour through heavy traffic to get there.

Oddly enough, Tampa, though an ancient village, has few points of historical interest. Chief of these is an immense ornate hotel which used to be the Waldorf Astoria of central Florida, now used as part of the University of Tampa, full of the relics and atmosphere of the Old Days—of which little is made to intrigue the interest of the tourist. Part of the town is called Ybor City, and here is a large population of Spanish-Americans in a section largely reminiscent of parts of Havana or Mexico City, whose principle business is the making of cigars and tourist souvenirs.

One of the interesting towns near Tampa is Tarpon Springs, a sponge fishing village almost entirely Greek in population. Here are queer-shaped sea shells, sponges and other oddments of the sea bottom along with delicious Athenian food that takes you far away to the Old World. Fishing boats with deepsea divers and loaded with tourists turn up and down the channel to deep water. Museums, workshops, food oddities, it is a fascinating and unique community well worth exploring. In the little church is the famous "weeping icon", providing mystery and religious awe for believers.

Florida is a fine place to go for a vacation and a change of atmosphere. But for eleven months of the year we'll stick to the peace and quiet and the normal stride of life by the Bay in the Waldorf Astoria of central Florida, now used as part of the University of

To start the New Year I think it might be beneficial to all concerned to explain what a Veterans Service Officer is and his responsibilities. He is not an officer but could more aptly be called a Veterans contact representative.

He is not employed by the Veterans Administration nor the federal government. He is employed by the county board of supervisors, paid by the county and responsible to the board of supervisors to whom he makes a quarterly report of the work he did in assisting the veterans and their dependents, regardless of where they are from though most are from the county, during that quarter.

He is responsible to the veteran population of the county, in so far as is possible, in bringing to their attention and to the attention of their dependents, the right and benefits granted them by law. His main function is however to advise and counsel the claimant and assist him in preparation of the proper forms to obtain these benefits. He also informs the claimant what supporting evidence is needed to complete the claim and assists in getting this very necessary supporting evidence.

He makes the decision as to whether the claimant is entitled to any benefits. This decision is made entirely by the Adjudication Officer employed by the Veterans Administration.

He should not decline to assist any veteran or dependent in submitting a claim, unless it is obvious the claim is fraudulent.

He cannot call the Veterans Hospital and tell the authorities there that he is sending a veteran to them to be admitted to the hospital with any assurance that it will be done. This decision is made by the admitting physician only.

He must, in the performance of his duties, be able to inform claimants as to their compensation or pension rights and he must be familiar with other benefits such as insurance, education benefits, hospitalization, burial benefits and so forth.

The above explanation should indicate that the Veterans Service Officer is an assistant to the veterans in processing their paper work for a claim and does not decide whether any claim should be approved. The above is also true of the Post Service Officer of the various service organizations, such as the VFW, the DAV, or the American Legion.

If you are a veteran or if you know of any veteran needing assistance in any way with their VA benefits please tell them to call 487-5404 or come to the Court House, second floor rear, and see their Service Officer.

Another reminder that the Yearly Income Questionnaire card must be returned to the Veterans Administration before January 14, 1974 before veterans can receive a check for February 1974.

I wish to repeat that any money paid in excess of .05 percent of your total income is considered unusual medical expenses. This includes optical bills, doctor bills, dentist bills, social security medicare payments, prescription drugs and health insurance policy premiums. These expenses are reported on the Income Questionnaire card and could increase your V.A. Pension, so be sure to save those receipts for 1974.

Miss. Faces Possible Loss Of Medicaid

Mississippi may lose federal participation in Medicaid unless the legislature makes appropriations mandated by Congress its first order of business when it convenes January 8, Welfare Commissioner Max M. Cole warned today.

"Approximately 310,000 of our citizens or one-seventh of our population are directly involved and hardly a family in the state will escape the consequences," the state welfare head said.

Governor Waller has been advised by HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger of the gravity of the situation and Governor Waller is working with the legislature on this problem, Cole said.

The situation developed as a result of the 93rd Congress amending the Social Security Law in July making it mandatory that states supplement for those December 1973 recipients of public assistance who will get less under the all federal, new Supplemental Security Income Program, Cole further stated.

In the State of Mississippi it is estimated that 35,000 recipients will receive less under Supplemental Security Income and will require supplementation costing the State of Mississippi $3,300,000 for the six month period January-June 1974 and 20,600 will require supplementation costing

HANDICAPPED WORKER

NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

from U.S. SENATOR
JOHN STENNIS

The year 1973 has been distressing in many ways. The problems of government piled up in unusual numbers over the past twelve months. The year will probably be remembered as the "Year of Watergate," the energy crisis, was in the Middle East, worldwide economic problems, and natural disasters, such as the flooding in Mississippi.

Nevertheless, the year holds many sound and far-reaching accomplishments. The involvement of United States forces in Vietnam ended and our POW's were released. The Congress passed legislation that will help insure that this country never again commits our fighting men to war without some active and responsible participation in the decision by the representatives of the people in the Senate and the House. Congress also increased the flood control plans and the amount of money spent each year for flood control and flood protection projects in Mississippi and other States, an increase that was prompted by the disaster we suffered last spring.

I point these out as examples of some of the solid constructive accomplishments of a trying and turbulent year.

Of course, 1973 was an especially significant one in my life. I was confronted with personal challenge.

I feel that it is especially appropriate at this time of reflection that I once again express to each one of you my most sincere and humble appreciation for the many expressions of comfort and inspiration I received during my period of recovery. It was those personal messages from the people of Mississippi and other areas that helped me in my effort to fight back and which inspired me so greatly during a time of personal trial. Thank you, too, for your prayers. As my surgeon said, "A Higher Hand entered your case."

While this festive holiday season is a time of reflection, it is also a time of resolution, a time to look forward to a new year and the challenges each will face. I feel a special duty to repay in extra measure the many kindnesses you have shown my family and me during the last year. It is in that spirit that I want to repeat my thanks to you all and wish for you in this season a Happy New Year.

With you I am looking forward to 1974 with all of its activities and believe that we are capable of meeting our problems and also make constructive improvement in our government and in our economy.

Sincerely your friend,
John C. Stennis
United States Senator

Dear Editor,

In listening to so many programs today, concerning Christmas, it is alarming how little the ministers of the Gospel know about the Bible and about man made worship. About 300 years after the birth of Christ, some so-called Christians decided to celebrate His birth, claiming if they selected the date the sun worshippers used they might win them over but instead they started using their way of worship which Gen. 10 says is an abomination to God.

The true way to celebrate His birth is to spread the good news that the Christ that was in a manger is now our High Priest sitting at the right hand of God making intercession for us, and is coming soon for us as He promised. A more appropriate day to celebrate would have been the New Year since time is counted from His birth back and forward. Now time is running out.

Let us hasten to let Christ be born in our hearts, Now is the accepted time.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — I received a general discharge from the Army. Am I eligible for GI Bill benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A — Yes. A general discharge entitles a veteran to the same benefits as an honorable discharge. Suggest you apply at your nearest VA regional office for these benefits.

Q — When a veteran's widow died recently, she had in her possession a pension check from the Veterans Administration. Is this check payable to anyone?

A — No. The check must be returned to the disbursing office which issued it. It may then be reissued upon submission of a claim to the nearest VA office, to any children entitled to VA death benefits. In the event there are no eligible children, the check may be made payable to the person or persons who bore expense of the last illness or burial.

Q — I'm interested in applying to the Veterans Administration for a GI home loan after I'm discharged next month. How do I go about this?

A — It's relatively simple now. Under recently initiated procedure, VA automatically mails certificates of eligibility to veterans shortly after they are separated from service. After selecting the home you'd like to buy, you should present the certificate to the private lender who agrees to finance the home, then await VA approval of the loan.

Governor's News Summary

Governor Bill Waller and Dr. Robert L. Robinson, Director of the State's Agricultural and Industrial Board have announced that industrial investment in new and expanded industry in Mississippi exceeded the $1 billion mark for 1973.

The 1972 total recorded was $876 million and the previous record high recorded by the State was in 1965 with $286 million. The 1973 total through November 1 was $1,119,790,000.

Dr. Robinson said the 1973 figure is not complete because December statistics are not yet compiled. He said also that the 1973 total does not include approximately $300 million in new industrial investment that was proposed during 1973 but has not yet been firmly announced such as the DuPont Corporation on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Robinson said, "We also expect to announce several big prospects during the next year that have been delayed because of the energy crisis." He said several firms had temporarily delayed announcements until the energy picture is put into perspective.

The Select Committee for Higher Education last week issued an Interim Report which called for a major reorganization of the state's higher education system.

State Representative Horace Harned of Starkville, committee chairman, said that all recommendations of the Committee are designed to insure "quality education for all the students of Mississippi."

The Committee recommended the following:
—Changing the tenure and method of appointment of members of the College Board.

—Placing the Research and Development Center under control of the College Board to eliminate duplication of economic research functions now being carried out by both the Center and the various colleges.

—Providing an increased staff for the College Board to carry out adequate research on higher education.

—Reorganization of the state's medical school program to allow training of more doctors.

—Participation by the state as a lender under the federally guaranteed aid program to provide loans for both college work and vocation-technical programs.

—Creation of a post-secondary education planning commission.

—Additional state assistance for nursing schools in Mississippi.

Representative Harned said, "I believe that these recommendations, if approved and implemented, will result in considerable improvement in the administration of higher education in Mississippi and in increasing the higher education opportunities for the people of our State."

In a recent presentation, Oxford Mayor Richard Elliott accepted a check for a half-million dollars from Mississippi Air & Water Pollution Control Commission Chairman Ray Tribble as the first installment of a State grant to aid the City in the construction of new wastewater treatment facilities.

The $500,000 check is the first payment of the State's $656,250 total participation in the new sewage plant project. The money is made available to municipalities under the State Water Pollution Abatement Program established by the State.

Legislature in 1968. Glenn Wood, Director of the Commission, said, "Any political subdivision that is authorized to own, maintain or operate a waste collection, treatment or disposal system and is eligible to receive Federal Grant funds is also eligible for State grant aid."

"Aviation Weather," a special half-hour program for general aviation interests, can be seen at 6 p.m. on Thursdays and Fridays over the Mississippi Educational Television Network (Channels 19, Biloxi; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 20, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 18, Oxford; University; and 2, Mississippi State).

"Aviation Weather" provides pilots with an official FAA visual and aural aviation weather briefing with local forecasts provided by selected NWS offices across the country via voice inserts. This briefing is for flight planning purposes only and the producers stress that pilots should contact a Flight Service Station (FSS) prior to departure to insure a safe flight.

Each program is thirty minutes long. The first fifteen minutes highlight current national and local weather followed by fifteen minutes that focus on pilot education, emphasizing rules and regulations, improved flying techniques, and safe operation of aircraft.

City, county and state elected officials from the Hattiesburg area met with Mississippi Park Commission representatives recently to view construction plans for Phase I development at Paul B. Johnson State Park.

Wiley Fairchild, State Park Commissioner, said, "The purpose of the meeting was to brief the key officials on our future conceptual plans for recreational development at the park, and to receive their viewpoints on these plans."

According to Commissioner Fairchild, the new construction project, which is being funded by HB660, passed by the 1973 legislature, provides for the development of two picnic pavilions, two comfort stations, and a bathhouse. Total cost for the new construction will be $103,500.00.

Donations Accepted For George E. Allen Memorial

The Booneville Historical Society is accepting memorial contributions for the George E. Allen Memorial Library, according to society chairman Marion W. Smith.

Last year, Allen, advisor and companion to a succession of presidents for years before his death last April, provided seed funds for the construction of a building in his native Booneville to house both a public library and his personal collection of memorabilia.

"Nine crates of notable miscellany have arrived," Smith said. "Along with an oil painting by Dwight D. Eisenhower, we have important memoirs and gifts that identify with people and events that have helped to shape history." Allen also bequeathed $150,000 for the building's construction.

In an effort to double the bequest before January 1, 1974, the Library Fund Committee has opened the fund to memorial gifts to Allen's close Mississippi friends. The goal realized, construction can begin in the spring of 1974.

Names of donors of substantial gifts will be on a bronze plaque in the library's foyer.

Allen, dubbed "court jester" throughout the political circles of the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower administrations for his wit, was noted for his vital business connections, ability, shrewdness and political judgment. He recounted his years in public life in his book "Presidents Who Have Known Me."

Mississippians also remember Allen as nephew of John Allen, Confederate private who served eight terms in Congress.

Hog And Pig Numbers Up

The number of all hogs and pigs on Mississippi farms December 1, 1973 totaled 480,000 head—up 4 percent from the 462,000 head on farms December 1, a year earlier according to the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Of the total hogs and pigs on farms, 82,000 were being kept for breeding purposes—4 percent above the 79,000 head being kept for breeding purposes, a year earlier. By weight groups, the 398,000 market hogs and pigs were classified as follows: 161,000 weighed less than 60 pounds, 115,000 weighed between 60-119 pounds, 72,000 weighed between 120-179 pounds, 44,000 weighed between 180-219 pounds and 16,000 weighed 220 pounds and over.

The value of all hogs and pigs on farms December 1, was $25,880,000—up 48 percent from a year earlier, although hog numbers were up only 4 percent. Most of the increase in total value was accounted for by a higher value per head.

Reports from Mississippi hog producers on breeding intentions indicate that 65,000 sows will farrow in the state during the December 1973-May 1974 period, 3 percent above a year earlier.

Mississippi's 1973 pig crop is estimated at 774,000 head—virtually the same as a year earlier. The year's total included the spring crop (December through May) of 446,000 pigs and the fall crop (June through November) of 228,000 head. The spring crop was 2 percent below a year earlier and the fall crop was 3 percent above a year earlier. Sows farrowing during the June through November 1973 period totaled 45,000 head, up 2 percent from a year earlier. Average pigs per litter was 7.3 compared with 7.2 a year earlier. Sows farrowing during the December 1972-May 1973 period totaled 62,000 head, down 3 percent from a year earlier. Average pigs per litter was 7.2 compared with 7.1 a year earlier.

The Energy Crisis

When Did It All Start

There has been much discussion as to how the energy crisis came about. The Mississippi Economic Council notes through an "Energy News Alert" published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States that a serious energy crisis was predictable by studying the trends in fuel supply and in energy resource development. Consider the following facts:
 -Between 1956 and 1970, the number of exploratory wells drilled declined by 40 percent; as a result, the number of producing wells has declined steadily since the early 1960's.
 -Since 1946, the ration of natural gas reserves to production has fallen from 32.5 to its present level of about 10.0. In 1968, for the first time, the actual level of reserves declined as production exceeded new discoveries.
 -Coal, once our principal fossil-fuel energy source, has lost many of its markets in recent years to oil and natural gas.
 -Nuclear power, bright with promise in the early 1960's has failed, for several reasons, to fulfill that promise.
 These trends were only symptoms of the underlying energy problems--environmental over-enthusiasm in areas ranging from offshore leasing to the Alaska pipeline, to power plant siting, to air pollution, to surface mining; lack of coordinated energy policies; artificially low natural gas prices; and, of course, our seemingly insatiable appetite for energy.
 Continuation of these trends would have begun to produce an energy crunch around 1976, but a combination of events has accelerated that timetable and also has probably intensified the effects of the shortage. While the Middle East cutoff has been the most significant of these events, others include the imposition of price controls, the acceleration of timetables for achieving air quality standards despite the inadequacy and/or unavailability of necessary sulfur removal technology, and the continued growth in our use of petroleum products for energy, synthetic fabrics, plastics, etc.
 The MEC urges three measures--adoption of a strong national energy policy, institution of favorable economic incentives for the development and conservation of energy resources, and reappraisal of state and national environmental programs to assure a balanced approach to meet the needs for energy and environmental improvement--to meet the challenge of the energy crisis.

What Are Your Odds?

The odds are 50-50 that you live within an hour's drive of an ocean or one of the Great Lakes.

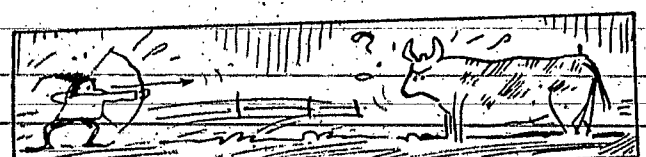

If you're a woman who married in her teens, chances are one in four that you'll be divorced by the time you're 40.

If you are married, chances are one in three that you've already celebrated your 25th, Silver Anniversary. The chance that you've marked your 50th, Golden Wedding is one in 50.

The chances are two to one against a baby having been planned, or wanted by its parents when it was conceived.

Fertile couples who use no birth-control for a year run a 60 to 80 percent risk of pregnancy.

Chances are even that you live in one of these eight states: California, Illinois, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas.

The early English were struck by the notion that elves shot at cattle with little bows and arrows, and that these arrow-heads could be worn to ward off lightning!

New Life For Old Clothes

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Garments that have been stored away for years may need only minor changes or refitting. Others can be ripped apart completely and recut in a more up-to-date style.

"Good wool fabric can be reused successfully. This year, new wool fabric is expensive and even hard to find in some areas," pointed out Marguerite O. Davis, Extension clothing specialist. "So, instead of discarding wood garments, look at them for make-over possibilities. Some garments may need only minor changes or refitting. Others can be ripped apart completely and recut in a more up-to-date style."

Miss Davis said if two fabrics are combined, try to keep the weight and texture as nearly alike as possible.

"The layered look offers a lot of possibilities too. The three-quarter length sleeve looks a bit out of date, so many of today's fashions make it into a short sleeve and add a long sleeve of rib knit in a contrasting color," she added.

"Repeat this rib knit at the neckline to give the effect of a sweater underneath. If the dress is a shirtwaist style and large enough, simply wear a blouse or sweater underneath."

Adding or replacing a belt is a simple matter. The clothing specialist noted that narrow belts are gaining preference over wide ones. Belting a beltless dress shortens it, so the hem may have to be let down.

"Pattern books will give you a lot of ideas you can adapt to the fabric you have. It's a great satisfaction to be able to make over an unused garment and put it back into service," she said. "It just might become your favorite outfit."
